The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on agreeing to the motion of the Senator from Texas.

The motion was agreed to; and the Senate proceeded to consider the concurrent resolution.

Mr. JAVITS. Mr. President, by leave of the Senate I attended a conference in London which took place on Thursday, Friday, and a part of Saturday, relating to the affairs of NATO, the activities being those of the economic session of the NATO parliamentarians. At a more appropriate moment—I hope today—I shall make a report to the Senate on some of the findings. At this point I wish to emphasize to my colleagues the exceedingly great importance which is ascribed by our colleagues and friends in the NATO alliance, in an economic way, to the approval of the arrangements relating to Euratom.

I emphasize that factor at this time because it is so appropriate to my return. I express my gratification that I have arrived in time to add my voice to the approval of this exceedingly important development for Europe. No one knows better than the Europeans that they must in some way reorient their energy

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the resolutions bearing the calendar numbers I have given, and citing for contempt the persons I have named, now be considered en bloc, and voted en bloc.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection to the request of the Senator from Arkansas? The Chair hears none, and the resolutions will be considered en bloc.

Mr. JOHNSON of Texas. Mr. President, I ask for the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

Mr. MUNDT. Mr. President, I wish to say for the RECORD that a "yea" vote is a vote to cite for contempt every one of those whose names have been read. Any Senator not wanting to cite them for contempt should vote "nay."

Mr. IVES. Mr. President, in line with what the Senator from South Dakota has said, I want to say every one of the persons named should be cited for contempt, and the vote should be "yea" in each case.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on agreeing to the resolutions en bloc. The yeas and nays have been ordered, and the clerk will call the roll. The legislative clerk called the roll.

Mr. MANSFIELD. I announce that the Senator from Delaware [Mr. FREAR], the Senator from Florida [Mr. HOLLAND], the Senator from Michigan [Mr. McNAMARA], and the Senator from Georgia [Mr. TALMADGE] are absent on official business.
